to be suspended at once, and for an indefinite period.

Eight Weeks

"The facts presented were so serious as to justify the assertion of the producers that without the acceptance by all employees of substantial cuts in salaries, effective March 6, 1933, and continuing for a period of eight weeks, the payrolls can no longer be met."

"The producers proposed that salaries above $50 per week be reduced 50 per cent, with a minimum pay of $37.50 a week; all salaries above $50 be reduced 25 per cent, with a minimum pay of $15 a week."

"In view of the fact that the only alternative to the cut appears clearly to be cessation of all motion picture activities of all studios, the board of directors of the Academy recommends to all its members and other employees that they accept the proposal and give it their wholehearted support. Even as it is, some studios may have to close anyway."

"The board, in recommending this, acts upon the assurance of producers that the salary reductions will apply to all employees whether or not under contract and irrespective of individual conditions."

"It is under these conditions that the Academy board, feeling it necessary at any cost to prevent the shutting down of one of the major industries of the country, and the throwing of thousands of people out of work, joined with the producers in taking this step in the face of the emergency."

Lamb, Rabbit Win Fans Fight Ducats

PORTLAND, Ore., March 8.—(UP)—The most undecidable thing about this affair was the fight itself.

A pink lamb, a white rabbit, canned spinach, corn, tomatoes and fresh vegetables even including cauliflower, were turned in at the box office here last night for admission to Promoter Joe Watterman's "moratorium boxing card."

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

OF SANTA ANA

Politically Speaking

BY THOMAS B. MALARKEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 8.—(UP)—Political bickering and departmental shake-ups have been shoved into the background by legislative issues so vital and far-reaching that inter-governmental squabbles pale into insignificance.

The inman committee's sensational investigation into the Rolph administration is a thing of the past. The committee not only refused to continue hearings but stuffed off Governor Rolph's charges against Senator J. M. Inman onto the senate judicial committee.

Dr. J. M. Toner, director of institutions and Rolland Vandegrift, director of finance, still cling to their jobs, though somewhat precariously if capital gossip is correct. Both were under fire in the inman investigation.

Emergency bank legislation and the royal battle over the utility tax equalization bill dominated the capitol scene this week.

The utility tax was finally killed—insofar as this year is concerned—but only after a thrilling legislative embroglio which bore all the earmarks of the King tax bill fight of 1921.

This bill, which would have boosted certain utility taxes $12,000 per biennium, was ragged wreck, figuratively speaking, after a week's shunting around. First it was killed in committee of both houses. Then the house passed it and, finally, the senate killed it.

Senatorial oratory soared to great heights. Senator J. M. Inman, leader for equalization, struck the dramatic note when he laid the defeat of the measure at the door of the California Farm Bureau federation.

The actual vote was on a motion to suspend the constitution and permit final consideration of the Cloudsley tax measure. This was voted down 22 to 15.

In the assembly, pure chance brought victory. The roll called showed 52, yes; 27, no. The bill needed 54 votes. One member was absent. As the situation then stood, his vote could not alter the outcome. But Assemblyman B. F. Fiegenbaum hung on grimly and demanded a call of the house. The absentee, Charles Morgan, appeared and voted aye. Then, Charles Grubb arose and changed his vote to "aye." That put it over.

Peace and serenity have prevailed in the department of agriculture since the dismissal of Dudley Moulton as director and the appointment of the board of agriculture's choice, A. A. Brock. As long as Moulton was director, members of the board would have little to do with the department. Since Brock has been in the saddle, however, the board and the department have been as congenial and cooperative as a happy family. The governor is keeping his hands out of the department. Fact is, Brock is apparently depending more on the board for advice than on the man who actually appointed him, Rolph.

Daily-Double Bet Nets Wagerer $1150

MIAMI, Fla., March 8.—(UP)—The biggest daily-double win of the season at Hialeah race track was registered yesterday by an unidentified bettor who ran $2 into $1150.29 by choosing Aunt Maria and Traffic Judge in the first and third races.

One British woman missionary, however, was attacked by riflemen some of them dressed in the uniforms of Chinese. The woman, Miss Blackmoon, was resident in an isolated mission. She was beaten and kicked, and her assailants looted the mission before fleeing at the approach of the Japanese vanguard.

All other missionaries in Jehol are reported safe.

They include Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Sturt and their child, British, Anna Fischer, German, Father Kerekhove, Belgian, and Father Van Eygen, Dutch.

Desertion And Cruelty Charged In Divorce Suit

Charging her husband with deserting her in January and alleging that because of his cruel and inhuman treatment she is in ill health and cannot support herself, Mrs. K. E. Shepherd has filed suit in superior court seeking separate maintenance from William Shepherd.

In addition to separate permanent maintenance, Mrs. Shepherd is asking the court to order payment of $50 monthly pending trial of her suit and a restraining order forbidding her husband to dispose of community property or molest her.

She listed as community property which she alleges her husband is holding in his name, 400 shares of Southern California Edison company; $1000 cash in the First National bank of Santa Ana; $1000 cash in the Bank of America at Placerville, Calif., a 10-acre ranch at Kelsey, Calif., two houses and lots in Santa Ana; and two vacant lots in Santa Ana.

According to her complaint when her husband abandoned her last January in Kelsey he left her with $10 and since that time has sent her $8. She cited as acts of cruelty two times when he struck her. On one occasion he struck her with such violence it broke her glasses and on the other he smashed her false teeth. She also alleged that Shepherd is of a miserly disposition and has for the past several years forced her to wear shoes and clothing which he collected from refuse dumps.

Meets Press

Mr. Roosevelt held his first press conference today in the executive office. More than 100 correspondents filed in. To each one the president extended a word of greeting as he shook their hands when they filed by his desk.

At the height of this activity and as the newspapers were ranging themselves about him, Mrs. Roosevelt entered the room, attractively garbed in red. She leaned over and whispered something in the president's ear.

Immediately thereafter, Elliot Roosevelt, the president's second son, accompanied by a friend, entered the room to say goodbye to his father. Elliot was on his way to Arizona, where he hopes to purchase a ranch.

Mr. Roosevelt was expected to wait until the banking situation was out of the way before going ahead with other plans concerning general legislation. Although it was indicated by some that he might send a second message to congress on these matters for their guidance in drafting their program in the recess which is expected to follow passage of the banking legislation.

bank notes could be issued under this law.

Reserve Act

In the hour of crisis, the administration, after fully canvassing the field has fallen back chiefly on the federal reserve act as its mainstay.

It was conceived for just such times—when actual cash cannot be obtained. Basically the federal reserve system permits banks to take commercial paper, notes given by business men in the course of making wholesale purchases, and other similar evidences of credit, and deposit them with the federal reserve bank of their district and obtain paper money—federal reserve notes.

The purpose was to permit banks to get large amounts of paper money when business was heavy. Then as they turn back the money with the shrinkage of commercial transactions the currency is allowed to contract.

That is a rough illustration and the actual process is infinitely more complicated.

No Gold Payments

Officials are determined throughout to prevent payment of gold or gold certificates.

Sentiment among congressional leaders for a limited bank guarantee continued though there was increasing uncertainty as to whether they could surmount the difficulties and dangers involved.

More on this may be known after President Roosevelt submits his emergency message to Congress tomorrow.

Abandonment of the scrip plan followed a 24-hour delay in pushing the issuance of clearing house scrip authorized in President Roosevelt's midnight proclamation Sunday.

At the same time it was learned President Roosevelt is prepared to seek virtual dictatorial powers if necessary to deal with the fast-changing banking situation.

Behind the sudden decision to abandon scrip lie three major considerations.

1. Local scrip would be of such variety as to cause vast confusion in actual business transactions.

2. It would amount to a form of printing press money.

3. Banks still are hoarding huge sums of cash or assets which may be converted into cash through the Federal Reserve system.

Mary Grossman and Josephine Grossman have filed suit in superior court against Former Mayor Frank Purinton, Mrs. Gertrude Purinton and the First National bank of Santa Ana for foreclosure of a mortgage on Orange county property. The property was mortgaged to secure a promissory note for $1600 dated November 23, 1927. The note was executed and the mortgage delivered to the Farmers' and Merchants' bank and later assigned to the plaintiffs.

Two fire trucks followed with the flowers taken from the funeral car.

Among those standing near the train was Policeman Thomas Flaherty, who helped arrest the assassin Prendergast, who shot Mayor Carter Harrison to death in 1893. As the casket was borne past, tears came to his eyes.

Leo Frills, deputy district attorney, today in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court moved for dismissal of the charges of possession and transportation of liquor against Orville Dodd and Hollis A. Harris, Santa Ana men, arrested under the old county prohibition laws.

Frills was of the opinion, he said, that the Santa Ana court did not have jurisdiction. After the case was dismissed a new complaint was filed in the Tustin justice court and the two men taken to Tustin, where they were arraigned and bail of $250 set, which they made. The case was set for April 3.

The county ordinance against liquor does not provide for prosecution in the incorporated cities of the county, but according to the district attorney's office, the offense was committed in the county, in the Tustin township. The men were arrested at Bishop and Walnut streets, in Santa Ana, after a chase between Tustin and Santa Ana.

D. G. Wetlin, attorney, is representing the defendants.

POSTPONEMENT IS GRANTED IN HUNSAKER TRIAL

Trial of O. A. Hunsaker and O. K. Hunsaker, brought here from San Quentin for trial on a charge of issuing a worthless check for $139 to a hardware company at Balboa, has been postponed until April 4. Postponement was granted on the grounds that Thomas P. Cruce, attorney for the Hunsakers, is representing Mrs. Anna Laura Barnett in federal court.

Mrs. Barnett is being sued by the United States government for return of vast properties said to have been given her by her husband, Jackson Barnett, wealthy Osage Indian and ward of the government.

The Hunsakers, father and son, are in San Quentin serving sentences from Los Angeles on two counts each, one of violating the corporate securities act, and the other on grand theft. The charges in Los Angeles grew out of operations of three finance companies in which they were interested.

During their trial in the Los Angeles courts it was revealed that investors in the finance companies headed by the Hunsakers lost millions of dollars through the manipulations of the pair.

During their trial in the Los Angeles courts it was revealed that investors in the finance companies headed by the Hunsakers lost millions of dollars through the manipulations of the pair.

The Hunsakers, father and son, are in San Quentin serving sentences from Los Angeles on two counts each, one of violating the corporate securities act, and the other on grand theft. The charges in Los Angeles grew out of operations of three finance companies in which they were interested.

Novel Sentence Is Written By Orange Man

An alphabetical sentence with the first letter of each word in the proper alphabetical sequence, which is an interesting comment on conditions, has been submitted by C. M. Hill, short story writer of 163 South Glassell street, Orange. It goes like this:

"America's backslide creates dire emergency for gentility, hope, intelligent judgment, knowledge, loyalty, more nobility, organized philanthropy, quietude, reasoning, scrupulousity, tact, unceasing valiancy, wisdom, xenodochy, youthlike, zeal." And in case you aren't familiar with that "x" word it means hospitality, according to the dictionary.

BULLET SHOWER FAILS TO HALT MOTOR THIEF

With shots flying close to his head, breaking out the wind shield of the car he was driving, an automobile thief escaped last night, after a wild chase, the wrecking of the car and a footrace.

The car was the property of Bernard Lombardi of 402 East Sixth street and was parked near Fifth and Bush streets. Lombardi saw a man enter it and start driving it west on Fifth street. He ran out and encountered Bert Dawson, merchant police officer.

The two jumped in Dawson's machine and gave chase. Dawson overtook the stolen car and attempted to force the driver to park by crowding close to him, but instead, the thief speeded up. Dawson then started firing.

Several shots went through the windshield and the car crashed into a telephone pole near Third and Artesia streets. Dawson believing he had shot the man, rushed to the car, but the thief hopped out and was soon lost in the darkness.

The car was badly damaged.

MORE ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR CARD TOURNEY

Bridge masters who have signed to play through approximately 24 hands in the first Santa Ana Duplicate Contract Bridge Pair Tournament, scheduled to get underway at the Green Cat cafe tonight at 8 o'clock, today were promised a reward more tangible than mere self-satisfaction by H. G. Serene, contest head.

Serene declares that prizes will be presented to the partners leading the East-West and North-South contingents at the close of tonight's play. A championship trophy is reserved for the pair emerging victor in the finals of the present tourney, to take place at a later date. Tonight's competition will carry the contest only through the quarter-finals, Serene pointed out.

New entries received within the last 48 hours swell the number of Santa Ana contestants to 24 and bring the total of Orange county applicants, with Santa Anans excepted, to 23, according to Serene. Recent reservations have included those of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Parker, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Tawney, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Pierce, Mrs. Martha Diana, Claud D. Bronner and Miss Lolita Perine, all of Laguna Beach.

Ralph A. Frost and Verner F. Rush, both of Laguna Beach, will boast a joint dictatorship, interpreting bridge rules within the bounds of their jurisdiction as referees. Observers with capacities for silence will be admitted to the sidelines, the two affirm.

The Saints rolled up 81 1-2 points, as against 24 1-3 by Garden Grove and 21 1-6 by Anaheim. Santa Ana also won in the class B division, 75 1-2 to Anaheim's 25 1-2 and Garden Grove's 12, but Anaheim finish well ahead in class C with 47 7-10 points to Santa Ana's 29 9-10 and Garden Grove's 15 2-10.

HE'S HORSE FAN

Winning football teams at Notre Dame university are a habit with Rev. G. L. O'Donnell, dean of the school, so he dropped in at Hialeah park, Miami, Fla., the other day to view winners of a different kind. The priest gets a big kick out of watching thoroughbreds run, and below he is seen as he appeared on the clubhouse terrace at the southern race track.

Council Asks Exclusion Of City From Water District

OPPOSE DOUBLE TAXATION FOR BOY SCOUTS TO SET OUT 500 TREES AT CAMP

Urging representatives from Orange county to exclude the city of Santa Ana from the new Orange county water district, as provided for in a bill designed to replace the existing county water act, the Santa Ana city council last night voted to oppose the water bill as now proposed.

The action was unanimous and was effected through the adoption of a resolution drawn up by City Attorney Clyde Downing, who has been studying the new bill since last week, when the council asked him to study the measure and make a report.

Opposition to the bill as now proposed was set forth as being that Santa Ana, foreseeing a future water shortage, allied itself in 1928 with the Metropolitan Water District and thereby provided a supplemental water supply from the Colorado river for its future needs.

Supply Provided

By becoming a part of the Metropolitan Water District, Santa Ana has incurred a very large obligation, which the council believes will provide the city with needed water at a cost much less than any other possible plan.

Taxpayers in Santa Ana cannot afford to assume further obligations as proposed by the water bill, which creates another tax-leaving agency, the resolution pointed out.

The city of Santa Ana is interested in and pledges itself to aid in protecting the water rights of this city and other communities in Orange county from encroachments in the upper Santa Ana basin, according to the resolution.

The ostensible purpose of the proposed legislation providing for the formation of the water district is mainly to supplement the water supply available for the district area, the resolution stated.

A copy of the resolution will be sent to Senator N. T. Edwards and Assemblyman Ted Craig and James B. Utt in Sacramento. The resolution was presented to the council last night by Mayor Paul Witmer. Councilman A. C. Eise, enjoiner moved the adoption of the resolution and the motion was seconded by Councilman E. G. Warner.

Efforts to equalize the taxation in the district, especially in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, members of the Metropolitan Water District, by changing certain provisions as now set up in the bill, were scheduled to be discussed at a meeting of chamber of commerce representatives, proponents of the measure and representatives of city councils in the county in Anaheim city hall this afternoon.

LENIENCY IN ATTITUDE ON JAPAN URGED

It is necessary for foreign countries to assume an attitude of leniency toward Japan during the present crisis, Mrs. John Stewart Burgess, a resident of Japan and China most of her life, said last night at the Fullerton International Relations council meeting.

Mrs. Burgess said that an understanding of the background of Japan will assist in helping the world to not become too critical, and explained the people as she knows them.

She said the militarist policy is adopted from the Japanese interpretation of the policies of other nations, and that it was well to remember that in all this trouble, the liberalist party is striving for a liberal attitude, and is specifically for the attitude taken.

"Those groups like International Relations belong to those who strive to understand, and who do not judge too severely, and I firmly believe that the principles of Christianity, applied, are the only solution of the difficulty," she concluded, after pointing out that the Japanese people are courageous, loyal, generous, and literary.

W. T. Boyce, dean of Fullerton Junior college, presented a short review of "The Society of Nations," which he said gives an intimate picture of the functioning and organization of the League of Nations.

The Rev. Dr. Graham C. Hunter, president, was in the chair at the business session.

Preceding the dinner, a short period of social gathering was held in the lobby of the California hotel. Dinner was served at the Anderson cafe.

Brief Meet Is Held By Supervisors

With Supervisors John Mitchell and Leroy Lyon in Sacramento attending the annual convention of the Supervisors' association, the board of supervisors yesterday held a short session.

Routine matters were transacted, letters read and the board adjourned before noon.

In a letter from the War Department the board was notified that a former application by Frank Haegle of Seal Beach for permission to close two sloughs at the beach for the purpose of propagating oysters, had been withdrawn.

The letter declared that a new application had been filed by Haegle asking permission to construct barriers across the waterways but leaving 12 foot openings for the purpose of navigation.

The board of supervisors, at the request of beach city residents had adopted a resolution opposing the first application by Haegle on the grounds that the plans called for closing navigable streams.

7 MORE DAYS TO PAY INCOME TAX!

Fifty-three Saturday paydays in 1932—and Uncle Sam chooses that year for an increase in his income taxes!

Maybe you didn't have to file an income tax return last March 15, but must do so this year, since exemptions have been cut to $2500 for married persons and $1000 for single persons. If so, the responsibility for filing a return is yours.

And, if your 1932 income exceeded the exemption, don't try to dodge filing a return because, as a double check, Uncle Sam requires employers to report their payrolls to him.

BARBARA STANWYCK SEEN IN JAIL FILM AT FOX WEST COAST

"Ladies They Talk About," Warner Brothers' big picture starring Barbara Stanwyck, comes to the Fox West Coast theater today and tomorrow.

There is no double feature at the theater with the showing of this picture, a regular program of short subjects to be seen in addition, including a Clark and Mena Cullough comedy, "Jitters, the Butler," a cartoon and comedy and Fox News.

The feature attraction is another big picture of a woman's prison, which clearly defines the things women prisoners do and think about. Dorothy Burgess and Preston Foster have other important roles in the production together with Robert Warwick.

Critics declare the film is similar to "Ladies of the Big House" except that it is more power, better done with a cast which makes it enjoyable entertainment.

SCORES WASTE IN EXPENSES OF GOVERNMENT

Waste in government must be stopped and people will be obliged to take an interest in the affairs of the state and nation if we are to pull out of the present economic crisis, Joe J. Deuel, head of the utilities department of the California Farm Bureau, said yesterday at Placencia Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Deuel, with Lieutenant Dean, an officer of the Frigate, Constitution, were guest speakers. More than 65 attended.

In outlining governmental policies, Deuel told of enormous wastes, both in national and state governments. The California agricultural department is drawing much more than needed, he said. A United States senate committee of five men, appointed to investigate wild life of the United States, spent a week at a Los Angeles hotel, where it cost $2,200 for hotel bills alone, according to figures he quoted.

Reveal Travel Expense

Senator Hiram Johnson, because of privileges granted in old laws, drew $1900 expenses to get to Washington, and Senator Samuel Shortridge drew $1304 for a similar trip, Deuel said. The California governor spent $43,000 more last year than ever before, and "additional accomplishments included starting road races," he declared.

In the final analysis, elimination of useless investigations, useless spending of taxpayers' money, and a wise and sane government policy must be adopted, the speaker said, and it must be done immediately, or the people will find that they will have to take over utilities such as the railroads, and will have to run them at a loss, he said.

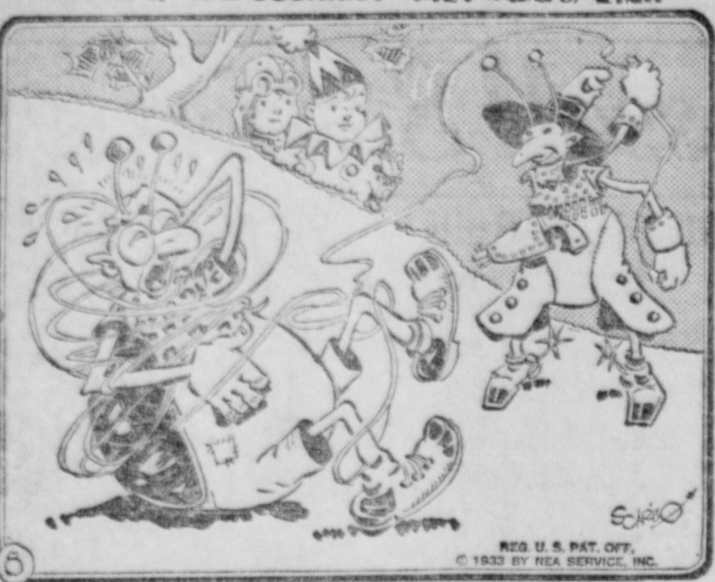

Lieutenant Dean introduced by Allan H. Guthrie, in charge of shore arrangements, told of the historical background of the old boat, which is the oldest boat floating, and which, for some time, was the "twelve navy of the United States."

Teachers of the school were present at the dinner. S. James Tuf-free presented Lieutenant Dean with some fruit grown in Orange county, and Harry O. Easton, manager of the Placencia Mutual packinghouse, presented the guest with two boxes of fruit.

THE TINYMIES

The beetle really looked real, mad and duncy shouted, "I'll be glad when we can find a place to hide. I don't like this at all."

"Be careful, as you Tinties run. This chase, you know is not in trouble if we'd trip and take a fall."

"Quit talking," shouted Windy. "We must keep as fresh as fresh can be, so we can keep on going till the beetle grows tired out."

"Let's cut around this little bend and run back to our spider friend. If we find him, we'll call for help. Be ready, lads, to shout."

It didn't take the Tinties long to turn back. They were running strong, when suddenly they saw the spider, standing just ahead.

"Help! Help!" cried Copy.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

Aerobic dancers get paid for a lot of waist motion.

Kindly chase the beetle out, and stop this race. I cannot run much longer. I will stop right down, instead."

The spider scrambled up a tree and cried, "All right, lads. Just watch me! I'll put my cowboy's suit on and I'll make a lasso, too."

"You see, I spin fine things like that. I'll shortly flop the beetle flat. 'Twill be a lot of pleasure, lads, for me to rescue you."

The Tinties kept on running. Then the spider scrambled down again. It surely looked real funny, dressed up in a cowboy's suit. It spun a lasso, very slick, and then cried, "Now I'll pull the trick. If Mister Beetle wants to get away, he'd better scoot."

Out flew the spider's lasso. Wheel! The shot was true as it could be. The web rope caught the beetle and went 'round and round and round.

Of course the beetle was surprised and very soon it realized that it was trapped. The long rope jerked the beetle to the ground.
